The Human-Computer Interaction & Usability Engineering Workgroup (Arbeitskreis HCI&UE) of the Austrian Computer Society (Österreichische Computer Gesellschaft, OCG) has been serving as an international platform for interdisciplinary exchange, research and developments since February 2005. While human-computer interaction (HCI) traditionally brings psychologists and computer scientists together, the inclusion of usability engineering (UE), a software engineering discipline ensuring the appropriate implementation of applications, has become indispensable. Because of the fast developments in information and communication technologies (ICT), the fields of application of HCI and UE are broader than ever. Therefore, USAB 2010 had, in comparison to past USAB conferences, quite a broad focus on all potential aspects of HCI in work environments, learning, private life and leisure activities. Each of these areas of application includes various challenges for HCI and UE, which go far beyond the classical desktop interface as well as usability norms and definitions postulated in the late twentieth century. The contributions for USAB 2010 provide important insights on the actual research activities in the field and support the interested audience by presenting the state of the art in HCI research as well as giving valuable input on questions arising when planning or designing research projects. Because of the increasing propagation of the field of HCI research, it is not possible to address all areas within a small conference; however, this is not the goal of USAB 2010 - it should be seen as a metaphorical counterpart of a wholesale, an HCI delicatessen shop providing a tasting menu with different courses (hopefully) catering to all tastes.
